Britishers Think he Voices Sentiments of American People on The Canal Question.

London, Jan. 17.—An article written by Henry Waterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, on "The Relations of the United States and England, is attracting much attention here. It is considered an astute and friendly summary of American opinion respecting the Nicaragua canal and a strong appeal to the foreign office for the acceptance of the Senate amendments to the new treaty."

Copies of the article have been sent to Lord Lansdowne, Arthur Balfour, Joseph Chamberlain and other members of the cabinet and will exert a marked influence in promoting the settlement of the canal question.

Two points on which special stress is laid in this article are the statements that the Senate has not added anything. Lord Salisbury would not have sanctioned it if he had been consulted in advance by Secretary Hay; that no English interest has been touched by the amendments; that Lord Salisbury, by accepting the revised text, can lay the foundations of friendship between the two nations more firm than any alliance and that there are strong reasons for a better understanding and a working agreement between the United States and England. Col. Waterson's representative character as a southerner and a Democrat lends great authority to this expression of American opinion.

SCARED THE CHINAMAN.

Little Beetle Greatly Magnified by an Electric Light Caused the Beetle to Run.

An illusion produced by an electric light gave a Chicago Chinaman a tremendous scare at Walnut street and Adams street a few evenings ago. The celestial, says the Chicago Chronicle, was crossing Wabash avenue from the east side of that thoroughfare. His raiment was of the characteristic potted type of the new arrivals from the orient. With the awkward, unassuming look of a Mongolian, he wobbled slightly as he came.

JOHN WAS FRIGHTENED

over the crossing pavement. When nearly two-thirds of the way across he suddenly stopped short, with eyes bulging from their black sockets and mouth wide open, in manifest terror. He was gazing wildly at the magnificent shadow of a beetle that seemed to be crawling upon the pavement. The great beetle, as a matter of fact, was upon a large beam of the Union Loop railroad overhead and was less than an inch in length. But under the powerful light of the electric light the bug's shadow resembled a crawling monster of the diabolical variety. This shadow the Chinaman took for the coming of the fright. Before he could be reassured Sam Moy and other of the Americanized Chinese colony were sent for to give explanations, which were made in a voluble stream of Chinese words. The Chinese terms that contained much of the magic wrought by "Mao's" shadow and little that was particularly respectful to the "beetle" of the Chinese religious creeds.

Mr. Sylvester Baxter, writing in the Review of Reviews for January, describes an important movement in Massachusetts for the preservation of places of historic and science interest. This "trust to protect Nature's beauty," as Mr. Baxter styles the committee having the matter in charge, has already accomplished much by way of rescuing interesting buildings and sites from ruin and defacement, and it is hoped that similar work may be undertaken in other States.

The late Senator Davis is the subject of a character sketch in the January Review of Reviews, by the Rev. Dr. Samuel G. Smith, who writes from an intimate personal acquaintance with the Minnesota Senator. In the same number appears a sketch of Henry Villard's picturesque career, with reminiscences of Mr. Villard's early days as a newspaper correspondent contributed to Mr. Murat Halstead, with Mr. Villard served on the Cincinnati Commercial before and during the civil war. Each of these articles is illustrated with portraits.

The Review of Reviews for January has a capital article on Sir John Tenniel and his career fifty years on Punch, illustrated with a portrait of Tenniel drawn by himself and with reproductions of many of his famous cartoons. This study of the veteran British cartoonist and his work is followed by an appreciation of Mark Twain, the veteran humorist, apropos of his recent return to his native shores.

INUNCTION SUIT FILED.

To Prevent Use of Money In Sinking Fund For General City Purposes.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 17.—An inunction suit has been filed in Circuit court by F. Haag, of the Henderson Gleaner, and M. C. Givens, an Attorney, against the board of Sinking Fund Commissioners, alleging that the board has been appropriating for general city purposes, funds that were raised by special taxation for the purpose of paying interest on the city's bonded indebtedness and for the redemption of the bonds, and asking that the board be enjoined from using the funds so raised, which property belong to the sinking fund. The court granted a temporary restraining order, to hold until Saturday, next, when the matter will be heard further.

HAWAIIAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

They Are in Splendid Condition and Are Doing Fine Work.

Statistics may seem dry reading, but a visit to a Honolulu schoolroom would be far from dry or uninteresting, says a correspondent of the Boston Transcript. Last June I went through the fine new Kaimali public school, named for the late Hawaiian Prince Kaimali. This has pupils from the beginners in the lowest primary to a class ready to enter the high school, and in these rooms we saw side by side children of all sorts of nationalities, having the same care and training and all learning to be good American citizens. Observing the little people in the primary department gave the clearest idea of the difficulties to be solved. Here were the little children of the Hawaiian natives from China, Greeks in picturesque kimono, the native children beaded in leis, unkempt Portuguese and numerous other kinds of little humans which the census man alone can sort out. All these yield to the sway of a gentle teacher, and substitute for their various dialects the difficult English which falls sweetly from her lips and is patiently repeated "seventy times seven."

As I visited the highest room in the building, listened to the faithful recitations and remembered that these students had come from just such material as we saw in the first grade, we knew that training and patient endeavor tell. Some of the most interesting and successful students in our schools are the children of mixed Hawaiian and Chinese parentage, and there are many such now in the schools. They have the attractive ways of the native, combined with the patience and industry of the Chinese. All the Chinese children rank high as students, and the young Chinese now growing up will make excellent citizens.

The high school is doing work to be proud of, and has found a home in the fine mansion of Mrs. Bernice Pauahi Bishop, a native princess, who died a few years ago. The spacious rooms were easily converted into schoolrooms, and the extensive grounds, full of rare trees and flowering shrubs, give plenty of outdoor life. They took me to the roof and showed me a wonderful view of city, mountains and harbor.

And, lastly, comes the normal school to crown the system. This is doing a much-needed work to train the young Hawaiian teachers, and summer schools are held for the benefit of those who are busy during the year. Kindergartens have not yet been incorporated into the public schools, but doubtless will be before long. There are several good ones supported by private generosity and presided over by trained kindergarten teachers from the states. The work in these schools is most interesting, with all the queer little atoms of humanity that assemble here. Very little children of any nationality are charming. In several places the sugar plantation supports a kindergarten for the children of its laborers.

Manual training is now receiving much attention in all the schools. I think I have never seen more practical work done in this line in any schools.

Men and women of large hearts and broadest culture are working at these problems, and our schools of the mainland must look well to their laurels, for Hawaii will rest satisfied with nothing short of the best.

Over every public schoolhouse in the islands floats the American flag, through the thoughtfulness of the Grand Army of the Republic. From a neighboring schoolroom I often hear the strains of "America" float out on the summer air. Here are brown, black, yellow and white children are gaining each a more wider knowledge of and a deeper love for the grand republic which spreads the wings of its wings even over them.

Too Big a Bill to Change

Some time ago Ida B. Wells, a colored street car conductor in Toledo, a $20 bill payment of one fare. The conductor refused to accept the bill on the ground that he did not have the amount from the car. She brought suit against the company for damages and the case was decided against her. Judge Pugsley said in deciding the case that it was unreasonable to expect the street car conductor to carry that amount of change.

DOG WITH A WOODEN LEG.

Wealthy Eastern Family Refused to Let Injured Animal Be Shot.

So far as known, the only dog to possess an artificial leg is the thoroughbred fox terrier Nat, the pride of the Merritt family, of Milton Hills, just outside of Boston, and Nat really hasn't got his cork leg yet. For a month past Nat has been stumping about on a temporary artificial leg whittled out of a piece of soft pine.

But in a few days, says the New York Herald, this courageous little animal is to be taken to Lowell, Mass., where the Andrews factory for making artificial feet and legs for the government is situated. There a cast of his maimed left fore foot, the mate of the lost one, will be made. From the cast an artificial cork leg will be made.

Dr. John A. O'Connell, the veterinarian of the Bowdoin kennels, Dorchester, who directed the amputation of Nat's leg, thinks the cork leg will cost in the neighborhood of $50, but that is a bagatelle to his owners. Much will depend upon the success of the first attempt at casting a two dog's leg. Several attempts may be necessary before a perfect model is secured.

Nat, who is not quite a year old, came to grief on last Fourth of July, when he tried to spring from a porch in the rear of the Merritt mansion, in Blue Hill avenue, Milton Hills, an aristocratic suburb of Boston, and fell 14 feet. When the little animal was picked up it was apparent he was suffering great pain. Two local veterinarians were promptly summoned.

Upon examination it was found that Nat had fractured his right fore leg at the third index. For two days all sorts of treatment were tried in vain. Then the doctors said Nat's case was hopeless and recommended that he be shot.

The Merritt family are wealthy.

They have a beautiful home, their fancy cattle graze on their rolling acres, and all sorts of luxuries surround them, but next to the two Merritt youngsters the greatest store is set by Nat. Mr. Merritt, a prominent dye importer of Boston, is traveling in India. He valued the dog at $200 when he gave him to Mrs. Merritt a few months ago.

"Nat must not die while Mr. Merritt is away," said Mrs. Merritt, imperiously, ignoring the dictum of the wise physicians, as oftentimes a woman will.

After further consultation it was decided to take the dog to the Bowdoin kennels and see if the veterinarians there could do anything for Nat. Dr. O'Connell, the expert, who has officiated at most of the big dog shows, recently made a thorough examination of the fractured member, while Mrs. Merritt pleaded earnestly for him to hold out some prospect of hope.

Dr. O'Connell was not sanguine. He found what would correspond to a break in a boy's arm at the elbow. The fracture was a bad one. The fore leg was swollen to twice its natural size. Gangrene had set in.

"It looked hopeless," said Dr. O'Connell, in discussing the case a few days ago, "but what can a man do when a woman is in tears and children look up at him with piteous appeals? I said I'd try to amputate the fore paw, but could not at that late day guarantee a successful issue of the operation. I was without proper assistance or any sort of temporary artificial leg for Nat, but we went to work."

"After the amputation the dog's leg was sprayed with cocaine daily for three days, while we scraped the bone and treated the skin flap around it. After the treatment Nat would lie most comatose, though we roused him and fed him at regular intervals. After awhile he rallied a little, and when granulation set in and the wound was not too sensitive a rude wooden leg was fitted to Nat's stump. With a girth around his stomach, a collar around his leg and a harness to keep the wood in place, we turned Nat loose."

"At first he refused to move. When he found he could not get rid of the amputation he learned to walk with it and gradually learned to derive support from it. Then the Merritt family refused to be separated from their idol any longer, and Nat was taken back to Milton Hills. The skin had grown firmly around the top of the wood and the operation is hailed as a success by the veterinarians who have had a chance to examine Nat."

With a real, accurately fashioned artificial leg he made and properly adjusted the dog will look fairly respectable, and he won't endure very much discomfort, I think."

The Merritt family is delighted.

over the result of the surgical experiment, and as for Nat—well, he "hops and goes lightly," around the confines of the spacious grounds and comfortable kennels of his owner, apparently not so much the worse off for his experience after all, while his nine-year-old boy and 12-year-old girl companions are proud as can be over the possession of the "only dog with an artificial leg."

FAVORITE NUMBERS.

That all numbers are not used with equal frequency by the various nations of the earth is clearly shown by M. Delaunay, a French scientist, who has devoted a good deal of time to a study of this subject, according to the New York Herald.

"A marked preference," he says, "may be found everywhere for the numbers 2, 3 and 5, as well as for the multiples of these numbers. The Mohammedan countries, however, form an exception to this rule, since the number 3 is not used in them. Neither in Turkey nor in Persia can any trace of this number be found, and there are very few places except where the people use it, the French and the other Latin races prefer the numbers 2 and 5 and rarely use the number 3, whereas, on the other hand, the English prefer 2 and 3 and the Germans 3 and 5."

"As for the Asiatic races, I find that the Indians are very partial to the number 2 and its various multiples, while the Chinese, like the Latins, use 2 and 5 more than any other numbers. In France, Germany, Sweden, Norway, India, South America and the United States the number 7 is more or less popular, but the countries in which it is used most frequently are Russia and the other Slavonian lands. In fine, just as a horror of 3 is a characteristic of the Turks, so a love of 7 is a characteristic of the Slavs."

"The higher numbers are rarely used, though they are found occasionally in certain countries, such as 11 in Salvador, 17 in Mexico, 19 in Spain and 31 in the Philippines. I learned to my surprise that the inhabitants of Hawaii are very fond of the number 13, a fact which shows that they know nothing of the prejudice against the number."

KILLED BY WILD BEASTS.

Some Startling Facts Relative to Casualties in England.

From India there come once more the official figures relating to the "casualties" caused in the constant war which prevails there between man and beast. We are happily situated in this country in being able to look back upon such a struggle as a thing of the past, but in our eastern dependency, says Chambers Journal, destructive animals still claim their annual tribute of human blood. In the past year more than 128,000 animals were killed and rewards claimed for their slaughter; and during the same period 25,166 men, women and children met their death through tooth, claw and the poison of snakes. To this terrible tale of human suffering must be added nearly 100,000 domestic animals which were killed by the same agencies. We thus see that the loss of life is about equal on both sides. It is interesting to see how the deaths are apportioned among the wild beasts. First comes the terrible man-eating tiger, which is responsible for 927 victims; the wolves come next, with a total of 462, while the leopard claims 394. Under the heading "Other Wild Beasts" are included 1,482 human deaths. The rest of the grand total, no fewer than 21,900 items of this terrible death list, are set down to snake bite. It is most futile to expect any great reduction in the annual loss of life from poisonous snakes, for the natives will never kill one of these creatures if they can avoid doing so.

Spanish Gostakins.

Gostakins are produced in large quantities in the vicinity of Badajoz and generally in all the south of Spain. The skin of the very young kid is used only for ladies' fine gloves and is prepared principally at Amoy and Grenoble, in France. These skins also find a market in the United States in a prepared state, but with this sale exception the entire supply of Spanish kid and gostakins is exported to the new state to the United States for tanning into fine shoe leather.

A Hundred Years from Now.

A philosophical statistician calculates that in the year 2000 there will be 1,700,000,000 people who speak English, and that the other European languages will be spoken by only 500,000,000 people.

Whether he did or not is now a question, as the twin sister of the girl whom Wilkinson was supposed to have married says she is Wilkinson's legal wife.

On the night of the wedding the two sisters dressed alike in white, and the two grooms were very much puzzled in their efforts to select their girls. One of the guests in a jocular manner remarked: "Be careful, girls that you do not change places." Then in a spirit of fun the girls exchanged and it seems that the grooms did not notice it.

Only A Joke.

After the ceremony Florence made the statement that she had been married to Wilkinson, but Rose said that it was only in fun it could not be a legal wedding. Florence does not consider it a joke, and says she is Wilkinson's legally wedded wife.

Now the husbands do not know which one they did marry, and they are in a queer predicament. They cannot legally be married a second time, for in that event they would be committing bigamy, and neither can a separation be made for the reason that they are not certain of the name of the girl which would necessarily have to appear in the papers.

TWIN BRIDES

Switched On The Grooms In A Kentucky Wedding.

And One Twin Says - She Married Sister's Lover - A Queer Situation.

St. Louis, Jan. 17.—If anyone can tell Henry Wilkinson, of Alton, a traveling salesman for a St. Louis firm, that he married the girl he intended to take as his wife, they can do more than he can. Wilkinson is in a dilemma. He does not know whether he married the girl to whom he was engaged or her sister.

In Birmingham, Ky., Monday night there was a double wedding, in which the Misses Rose and Florence Eskla, twin sisters, figured as the brides. Mr. Wilkinson and another gentleman were the grooms. Wilkinson went there for the purpose of marrying Miss Rose Eskla.

He Is In Doubt.

Whether he did or not is now a question, as the twin sister of the girl whom Wilkinson was supposed to have married says she is Wilkinson's legal wife.

On the night of the wedding the two sisters dressed alike in white, and the two grooms were very much puzzled in their efforts to select their girls. ILLINOIS SENATOR

Tanner and Other Candidates Out of Cullom's Way.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—The contest among Illinois Republican candidates for the United States Senate came to an unexpected close today by the announcement that former Gov. Tanner and Messrs. Cannon, Ritt and Prince had withdrawn from the race, leaving present United States Senator Cullom a walkover. The latter was nominated by the caucus tonight. All the candidates and their friends agreed that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to defeat Senator Cullom.

A lively fight between former State Senator Thomas Needles and State Senator Otto Koch, in the corridors of the Leland Hotel this afternoon began to assume a threatening aspect when friends of both men separated them. Mr. Needles who is a warm friend of Senator Cullom, resented a statement which he said Mr. Koch had made that he (Koch) had been offered $3,000 to vote for Cullom for United States Senator.

Mr. Needles offered to bet Mr. Koch $1,000 to $100 that he could not prove his statement. Mr. Koch said that he did not say to Mr. Needles that he had been offered $3,000 for his vote, but he said that he had been approached on this point and that in a private interview with Mr. Needles, he could convince him that he spoke the truth.

MILITIA

Goes to Corbin to Keep Down Rioting.

One Hundred of the Shotwells and Several of Their Relatives Gathering.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—Late this afternoon Gov. Beckham ordered that a company of State militia and a Gatling gun squad proceed at once to Corbin, Whitley county, to assist the civil authorities to quell riots and preserve the peace.

The order was issued upon request of Circuit Judge Thomas Z. Morrow, of Somerset, of the Whitley county judicial district, who wired the Executive that the town was at the mercy of the rioters, the county officers being unable to cope with them and that soldiers were needed.

COL WILLIAMS LEAVES

For Corbin With Eighty Picked Men and a Gatling Gun Squad.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 17.—Col. Roger D. Williams, of the Second regiment, Kentucky State Guard, with eighty picked men from the Lexington battalion infantry, under Lieut. Henry Hutchinson, and ten men of the first section of battery B, with one Gatling gun, commanded by Lieut. McNamara, left here at 8:45 o'clock to-night in a special car attached to the regular Chesapeake and Ohio train for Corbin, the scene of the rioting and bloodshed of yesterday and last night.

At Winchester the car will be attached to the L. and N. train. Col. Williams received orders early this afternoon to hold a company of men in readiness to move, and runners were sent out notifying the men to assemble at the armory at 6 o'clock. At that hour no orders had been received and the men were dismissed with orders to assemble again at 7 o'clock.

Col. Williams selected eighty of the best men to be found and they were equipped ready for the trip. The equipment came from Frankfort to-night and included a week's rations, blankets and cartridges.

SHOTWELLS GATHERING

At Gray's With Avowed Purpose of Extinguishing the Whites.

Middlesboro, Ky., Jan. 17.—Tom Shotwell, one of the Corbin Shotwells, was here today. He declared that about one hundred Shotwells and their friends would meet at Gray's near Corbin, to-night, together with several of the Chadwells, of Clay county, who are their kinsmen. He said the Whites would better leave the country as there was bitter feeling against them. Shotwell left at 10 o'clock for Gray's.

Rolla White, who killed old man Shotwell, had just returned from the Philippines, where he was a valiant soldier. He was promoted for gallantry on the field. He was a member of the Twenty-second infantry. The Whites are Virginians, they lived in Middlesboro a few years ago. Rolla White is only twenty years old, and has been at Corbin only a few months. Recently he was in a Virginia hospital because of a wound received while in army service.

JUDGE MORROW'S REQUEST

To Gov. Beckham For Militia Meets With Prompt Response.

Williamsburg, Ky., Jan. 17.—Judge Morrow made a request on Gov. Beckham for the militia to come to Corbin, was notified by the Governor that Col. Williams would be there at 3 o'clock in the morning in personal command of a company. The Shotwells still believe White is in Corbin and searched the trains coming to Williamsburg before it pulled out this evening.

NO ACTION.

The Democratic Committee at Frankfort Meets And Adjourns at Once.

And the Disputes in Kenton and Shelby Rest Just as They Were Heretofore.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—The unexpected happened when the Democratic State Central Committee met at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon to pass on the Kenton county and the Shelby county party disputes. Without taking action on either proposition the committee by a vote of 7 to 4 adjourned, leaving each quarrel in exactly its former status. It was agreed that the next meeting should be held subject to the call of the chairman. The vote stood as follows:

For Adjournment—Rhea, Kennedy, Griffith (by proxy), Hedger, Hargis, Chinn, Sims (by proxy).

Against Adjournment—Vreeland, Whittemore, Pugh and Garnett (by proxy).

Absent—Jones.

Both Sides Claims Victory.

The advocates of Arthur Goebel claim that this was a victory for their side, as they now say they only desired the committee to keep hands off. On the other side, the friends of Pugh in the committee say the fight is not yet settled.

RESOLUTIONS

Passed By Church Hill Grange at Recent Meeting.

Whereas it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst our beloved brother Jesse Giles, who departed this life on the 10th inst in the 73rd year of his age. Whereas in the death of Bro. Giles, this grange has lost a most worthy member, the community has been deprived of one of its noblest citizens and his family has suffered a bereavement that time alone can mitigate, be it

Resolved, that recognizing the exalted character of our deceased brother it shall be our aim to emulate the noble example he left behind him and while our hearts are sorely grieved, yet we are comforted by the assurance that our brother has gone to the rich reward promised to the faithful of earth.

Resolved, that we extend to his loved ones our warmest sympathy in their great affliction, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our grange, that a copy be sent to his family and one furnished the county papers for publication.

HOUSE BURNED.

Where Lincoln's Father and Mother Made Love.

The first two-story residence ever erected in Boyle County, and one of great historical interest, has just burned. It was constructed something over 100 years ago by Judge J. P. Mitchell on his fine farm, seven miles west of Danville, a short distance from where the Louisville and Nashville Railroad now passes.

Nearly 100 years ago Miss Nancy Hanks, afterward the wife of Thomas Lincoln and mother of Abraham Lincoln, was a frequent visitor to the family of Judge Mitchell. It was there, in that old building, during the winter of 1805, that Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks decided to unite their lives, and on a bleak December day, according to information furnished by old residents, Thomas saddled one of Judge Mitchell's horses, and taking his fiancée behind him, rode to Springfield, Ky., 25 miles, where the ceremony was performed.

They returned and spent their honeymoon with the family of Judge Mitchell, after which they began housekeeping in a miserable hut, a short distance from Hodgenville, in what is now Larue County, where three years later the future President of the United States was born.

BRITISH STEAMER KAISARI WRECKED AT REUNION—PROBABLY CAUGHT IN A HURRICANE.

Port Louis, Island of Mauritius, Jan. 17.—The British steamer Kaisari, which sailed from Rangoon November 23, for Reunion, has been wrecked at Reunion. Twenty-five of the persons on board the vessel, including the captain, lost their lives.

The disaster to the Kaisari may have been due to the hurricane which swept over the island January 12, causing a number of vessels to be driven ashore.

COLORED PROPHECY

Foretold One Horror and Predicts Destruction of Austin.

Austin, Tex. Jan. 15.—The Rev. L. H. Hill, a negro preacher from Galveston, is exciting the negro population of Austin today, as well as many of the whites, by preaching on the street corners that this city is to be destroyed by wind and water during the coming year.

He came to Austin at the instance of F. K. Smith, the negro who predicted the Galveston tidal wave and the gulf coast storm of last September and urged the people to leave the Island, and went himself to Houston a few days before the storm to escape it.

Smith has sent the following warning to the local papers:

Houston, Tex., Jan. 12.

"To the Austin Statesman: send the Rev. L. H. Hill to Austin to notify the people that the second coming of the Son of Man and the great judgment is on, and this year will be the worst we have ever seen and next year will be worse. Build storm houses and make boats. Let everybody read the third chapter of the Acts, 20 to 23 verse, and they will see that Christ must come through a prophet. Peter says he shall send Jesus through a prophet the second time. This is something the world has not noticed.

Yours,

"PROPHET SMITH."

Hill, Smith's advance guard says that he speaks as one inspired and that Austin will be more effectually destroyed than was Galveston ere six months of the present year have passed. He began the work of making street warnings this morning and will keep it up all week. The negro population is excited.

HOUSE BURNED.

Where Lincoln's Father and Mother Made Love.

The first two-story residence ever erected in Boyle County, and one of great historical interest, has just burned. It was constructed something over 100 years ago by Judge J. P. Mitchell on his fine farm, seven miles west of Danville, a short distance from where the Louisville and Nashville Railroad now passes.

Nearly 100 years ago Miss Nancy Hanks, afterward the wife of Thomas Lincoln and mother of Abraham Lincoln, was a frequent visitor to the family of Judge Mitchell. It was there, in that old building, during the winter of 1805, that Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks decided to unite their lives, and on a bleak December day, according to information furnished by old residents, Thomas saddled one of Judge Mitchell's horses, and taking his fiancée behind him, rode to Springfield, Ky., 25 miles, where the ceremony was performed.

They returned and spent their honeymoon with the family of Judge Mitchell, after which they began housekeeping in a miserable hut, a short distance from Hodgenville, in what is now Larue County, where three years later the future President of the United States was born.

MADISONVILLE

To Have a Third Bank In Short While.

Madisonville is to have another bank in the very near future that will be incorporated under the name of the Farmer's and Merchant's Bank and Trust Company. Enough of the capital stock has already been subscribed to insure the establishment of the bank and everything will be ready for business soon. A savings bank, a branch of the institution will be established at Earlington. J. F. Gordon is the chief promoter of the new enterprise. This will give the town three banks. Madisonville is progressing in every line of business.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is the most important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable utterances. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.

There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for energetic effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agent's terms, sample copies, and working outfit. Not solicit their subscriptions. It is a compliment to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently orders are easily secured. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your reference.

Price, 25 cents a number. $2.50 a year.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce

C. R. Clark,

As a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party. Primary election February 9, 1901.

All things come to him who waits. Even Wales is to have a chance.

Prof. Garner, the noted student of the monkey language, reported dead, has turned up all right.

The Steamer Buckeye State burned at Barfield's Point, Ark., and a negro roustabout was lost.

Women sympathizers with Fugitive Bill Taylor sent from Frankfort a floral offering to be used at the late Ex-Gov. Mount's funeral.

Moses E. Clapp of St. Paul, has been nominated to succeed Senator Chas. A. Towce, of Minnesota, who is serving by appointment.

The Tennessee Legislature adopted a resolution denouncing the assassination of Gov. Wm. Goebel and sympathizing with the people of Kentucky in his loss.

A cadet who entered West Point in 1888 went through his course without being hazed. One day he whipped five men and in all he defeated about thirty.

Jno. D. Rockefeller will honor his daughter's marriage by endowing some more colleges, without interfering with the bride's prospective dower of $50,000.

Charlie Wheeler announces that he will not be a candidate for Congress next year and Ollie James will doubtless be given a clear track.

Hon. W. J. Bryan's paper, the Crittenden, will make its appearance at Lincoln, Neb., to-morrow. The first issue will consist entirely of reading matter.

The troops ordered to Corbin lost no time in restoring order. The disturbers of the peace were promptly arrested and the soldiers returned home after one day's service.

The Philippine Commission has under consideration a proposition to place a "Southern outrage" on the natives by disfranchising them with a property qualification. The age of suffrage has already been fixed at 23 years.

Life Sebree has entered the contest to succeed District Attorney R. D. Hill. John Feland was also a candidate for this place for a while, but concluded to run for the State Senate, with a view of fixing up a circuit district to suit his judicial aspirations.

Another batch of Gov. Goebel's assassins are to be arraigned for trial at Georgetown Feb. 4 and the assassination organs are already predicting their acquittal. The opinion is gaining ground that if the assassins are ever punished, the people will have to adopt the methods of Colorado, Kansas, Indiana and other states and take the law into their own hands.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer $500 reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all his business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

West and Traut, wholesale drugists, Toledo, O.; Walding, Kinnam & Marvin, wholesale druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free. Hall's family pills are the best.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia. It makes life miserable. Its sufferers eat not because they want to, but because they must. They know they are irritable and fretful; but they cannot be otherwise. They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not. The effective remedy, by far the most certain cure of thousands of severe cases, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills are the best cathartic.

Two meetings of the State Central Committee have already been held over the Kenton county trouble without accomplishing anything. As a matter of fact there is no need of any action by the committee. The party law is too plain to be misunderstood. The local committee's duties are the same in cities of the first and second classes as they have been for five years. The state convention made a mistake in not letting the new rules apply to all alike, but the mistake was one that the committee is powerless to correct and Pugh's appointments are bound to stand, unless the committee turns him down under the old rules for purely partisan purposes.

The Naval appropriation Bill carries with it an appropriation of $7,016,025, the largest ever made at one time.

A cat five years ago I was troubled with catarrh of the lower bowels," says C. T. Chisholm, 484 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, and although I consulted several eminent physicians who prescribed for me, I found their remedies failed to in any way relieve me, and the almost became chronic. After suffering several months, one day concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I was most agreeably surprised to find after taking two doses of the remedy that I was completely relieved of the disease that had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since." For sale, by R. C. Hardwick.

DEAD SEVERAL DAYS

Before Body Of Aged Colored Woman Was Found.

Mary Cravens, col., aged about 90 years, was found dead in bed at her home on Jackson street Sunday morning. She had persistently refused to have medical services, although she had been ill for several weeks, and she expressed a desire that her friends leave her severely alone.

Cornerer Allensworth held an inquest and the verdict of the jury was to the effect that she came to her death from want of medical attention. She was formerly a servant in the Cravens family, near Julien, but had been making her home in this city for several years. From the condition of the body death had evidently occurred several days before it was found.

MORRIS MURDER CASE.

Examining Trial Today—Judge Brown Will Assist Prosecution.

The examining trial of Robert Morris, who killed Marion Henderson Christmas eve near Carl, is set for today before Judge Cassler. When the case was called two weeks ago the defense asked a continuance on account of the absence of material witnesses. The case was then reset for January 22. Morris' plea will be self defense. Judge M. D. Brown has been retained to assist in the prosecution.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. One application gives relief. For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

Mr. Walter Harned is the happy father of a bouncing baby boy, who arrived last Thursday. Walter has since been wearing a smile indicative of a man who is enjoying life.

FOR BABY'S SKIN SCALP AND HAIR

Something for Mothers to Think About

EVERY CHILD born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering but because of the dreadful fear that the disfiguration is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest, and most effective treatment available.

That warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales and gentle applications of CUTICURA OINTMENT to instantly allay itching, irritation and inflammation and soothe and heal, to be followed in the severest cases by mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT are all that can be desired for the alleviation of the suffering of skin-tormented infants and children and the comfort of worn-out worried mothers has been demonstrated in countless homes in every land. Their absolute safety, purity and sweetness, instantaneous and grateful relief, speedy cure and great economy leave nothing more to be desired by anxious parents.

* Millions of People Use CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT, for identifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp and soothing of falling hair, for softening and whitening red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itching and chafing, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Millions of women use CUTICURA SOAP in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations and excoriations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for stercorine weakness, and for many sensitive cutaneous diseases, which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP all ONE PRICE, VIZ., the BEST skin and complexion soap, and the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world. Sold throughout the world.

DIED IN COLORADO.

Wife of Former Christian County Citizen Passes Away.

The wife of Mr. Benj. Cranor, of Dawson, died Friday at Pueblo, Colo. She was about 25 years old and leaves a husband and two children—one of the latter being only a week old. Mrs. Cranor had been a sufferer from lung trouble for some time and went to Colorado last August in quest of health. Her husband was at her bedside when death came.

The remains arrived yesterday and were buried in the cemetery at St. Charles. Deceased was a daughter of Esq. Hamby, of near St. Charles.

Mr. Cranor is a native of Christian county and has a brother of David Cranor, living near Crofton.

Pneumonia Prevented

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and la grippe during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thos. W. Hildfield & Co., 240 Wabash avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia." For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

"An American Gentleman"

The play Mr. William Bonelli will employ as his starring vehicle next season, is one that is peculiarly adapted to his accomplishments.

The scheme of "An American Gentleman" deals with the adventures of one George Hathaway, known among his colleagues at College as Sampson of Yale, on account of his great physical strength and gigantic proportions. The first scene is at Hillsdale, N. Y., the beautiful summer home of the Hathaways. Everything is prepared for the young Hero's return from abroad, and the complications commencing at this point, including the robbery of the house and murder of the master, multiply thick and fast, until the final unmasking of the villains and virtue rewarded through the determination and skill of the young Hero. A young gypsy girl who is a tool in the unscrupulous hands of the band she is a member of, is deeply concerned in the plot, and is finally rescued by George Hathaway, who has learned to love her in her tribulations, and at last claims her as his bride.

Even with so slight a sketch as the above outlines of "An American Gentleman," it will be easily seen that the material is here for stirring situations and sensational climaxes, and there will be no lack of interest in the unwinding of the career of "An American Gentleman," which appears at the Opera House next Monday June 28.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves become diseased, and waste away call by call. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's disease, the worst form of kidney trouble. Dr. Klinger's Swamp-Root, the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar doses. A sample bottle will be mailed, also a book telling of Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Klinger & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., and mention this paper.

UNPOPULAR READERS.

School Board Takes Cognizance of Persistent Complaints.

The readers known as "Cyr's Readers," adopted by the Hopkinsville Public Schools a few years ago, have called forth so much complaint from parents of children using them that the School Board at its last meeting appointed a committee to investigate and report on the advisability of adopting a better series of readers. The condemnation of the books is so universal that it is said a majority of the trustees are opposed to their further use in the city schools.

HALF YEAR PROMOTIONS

Changes in The Classification of Pupils in City Schools.

The regular mid-session promotions were made last week in the city schools and pupils successfully passing their examinations were promoted to the "A" classes of their respective grades. Those failing to pass will remain in the "B" classes another five-months.

HIS SECOND SCHOOL.

Prof. Sollee Begins a New School at Lantrip's.

Prof. John Sollee last week began a subscription school at Lantrip's School House with 34 pupils in attendance. Prof. Sollee has taught a five-months' public school in another district. He is one of the most capable and popular teachers in the county. All of the winter schools have been well attended, as there has so far been no wintry weather.

ASTHMA PROVED FATAL.

Well Known Citizen Succumbs After Long Suffering.

Mr. John Pickford, a well-known citizen, died in his room on East Fourth Street Saturday night, after an illness of long duration. Asthma was the cause of death and he had been a sufferer from the disease for several years, but his condition did not become serious until last week, when he was taken to his bed. He was 63 years old and a native of England. He came to this country in 1882 and settled in this city. Later he located in Cadiz and was sexton of East End Cemetery for several years. From there he moved to Nashville and during the past few years he had lived at various other points. About 15 months ago he returned to this city, where he had since made his home.

Mr. Pickford was a boot and shoe maker by trade and had been working at his trade since his return to Hopkinsville. He leaves nine children, five daughters and four sons, all grown.

He was a member of the Episcopal church and his funeral was preached at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, by Dr. R. S. Carter. The interment took place in Hopewell.

C. A. JACKSON & SON.

JOHN F. CLARDY.

Died at His Home Near Gracey, Friday.

Mr. John F. Clardy, one of the county's most prominent farmers, died at his home "Rock Hollow," near Gracey, Friday afternoon, after a brief illness.

Mr. Clardy was the oldest son of Dr. John D. Clardy and was born June 10, 1839. He had the advantages of liberal education and was graduated from Bethel College, at Russellville, Ky. From his boyhood he was noted for his correct habits, studious disposition and upright character. He early connected himself with the Baptist church and was a consistent and active member of and a deacon in South Union church at Church Hill. His christian character was undoubted and all of his impulses were generous and charitable. In his church duties he was liberal, prompt and influential. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Dade, a daughter of Mr. Randolph Dade. After her death he married Miss Lizzie Evans, of Houston, Texas, who survives him. He leaves no children. Mr. Clardy had been in bed health for several months, but had been in bed only about a week.

He had become prominent as a careful business man and held a position on the State Board of Equalization by appointment of the Governor. His funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, being conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. L. Payton, assisted by Rev. Chas. H. Nash, of Hopkinsville, and his brother-in-law, Rev. J. N. Prestidge, of Louisville. Messrs. Guy Starling and Wallace Kelly, of Hopkinsville and Mrs. Phil T. Roberts, of Gracey, led the singing. The remarks and prayers were peculiarly appropriate and touching. The burial took place Sunday morning at the old Clardy home, near Bell's station and was attended by a large crowd of friends and relatives.

THE WAR BILL.

Passes the Senate by a Vote of 43 to 23.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The War Revenue Bill passed the Senate by vote of 43 to 23. Four Democrats voted with the Republicans for the passage of the bill.

Senator Hoar voted against its passage.

Rheumatism.

Nobody knows all about it, and nothing, now known, will always cure it.

Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm.

The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

How Long Will Foreign Missionary Work Be Needed?

Foreign missions have been the glory of the nineteenth century. The contributions of the churches to Christian lands for the maintenance of the world's welfare have been swelling year by year. There is no doubt that this work is about to continue. The status of Christianity in non-Christian lands is not yet such that aggressive work by foreign Christians for the redemption of the world can be abandoned. But a certain disparity has beyond question come to many Christians in view of a supposed indefinite and unlimited call upon Christianity for increased contributions for foreign mission work. The question has arisen, When is this to stop? To this question the points presented afford an answer. There will be a culmination in foreign missions. A time will come when expenditures for this work ought to begin to diminish. The quickness with which the turning-point may be reached depends on the energy and liberality of the Church of Christ in the early years of the twentieth century. The nations of the earth are in a tumult. All the world is about to be open to the preaching of the Gospel of Christ as never before. Bold, aggressive labor for his kingdom, on lines of the best methods, will be more effective in the twentieth than in the nineteenth century. By a few years of strenuous labor and liberal giving, a mighty transformation will be wrought. By wise and adequate labors, Christianity may be made paramount in every nation on earth in the early years of the twentieth century. From "Foreign Missions in the Twentieth Century," by Edmund F. Merriam in the American Review of Reviews for January.

FOUND LIVING DEAD.

Mrs. Clinton McClarty Expires Suddenly At Home of Her Daughter.

Mrs. Clinton McClarty, sixty-three years of age, died Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Shelby T. Harrison, of Lexington. Her body was found lying across the fender of the gate at 5:30 o'clock and life was extinct. Until four years ago, she was a resident of Louisville. Then she left for Lexington and alternated in making her home with her two daughters, Mrs. Shelby T. Harrison and Mrs. Howard Harrison, of Shelbyville. During her residence in Louisville, she was well known as a business woman. She was a clerk for years manager of the Louisville Clearinghouse. Her father, Dr. William Elliott of New Haven was one of the best-known men in Kentucky.

ON JANUARY 26

Appellate Court Will Hear Motion For Writ of Mandamus.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—If Circuit Judge Tarvin is able to appear the Court of Appeals on January 26 will hear argument of the motion of Theodore Hallam for a writ of mandamus in the matter of his disbarment from practice in the Kenton Circuit Court. Former Chief Justice Hatcher, representing Attorney Sidney Stricker, of counsel for Hallam, made the motion before the court that a day for argument be fixed.

Big Log For The Pan-American.

One of the attractions of the Oregon exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition will be a log 30 feet long and 13 feet in diameter. This is not the biggest log Oregon could supply. The only reason that the great lumber state does not send a bigger piece of lumber is that the railroads could not conveniently transport it. To accommodate the 20 ft. log with the diameter of 15 feet in the fore ends, building at the Exposition. Formerly sections of the log were cut so that part of the log of the Western Building.

HOWARD CASE

Argued Before The Appellate Court And Submitted.

A Decision Expected in a Few Days—Argued by Attorney General Brackinridge.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—The case of Jim Howard, the condemned murderer of Gov. William Goebel, was before the Court of Appeals today for oral argument and was submitted for decision. Attorney W. C. Owens appeared for the defendant and Attorney General Brackinridge argued for the Commonwealth. Attorney T. C. Campbell, of Cincinnati, was present in the courtroom. He came to make an argument, but as but one argument was to be made on aside he deferred to the State's chief law officer. A decision of the case will be rendered in a few days.

CASH SHORTAGE

Warren County Deposit Bank At Bowling Green, Ky., Accuses L. R. Porter.

Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 17.—The biggest sensation in financial circles Bowling Green has known for many years came to light today when the Warren Deposit Bank, one of the largest and oldest institutions of the kind in Kentucky, issued a statement accusing the Cashier, L. R. Porter, of being short in his accounts about $49,000. Mr. Porter has been with the bank fourteen years. He is an Elk, Knight of Pythias, and an officer in the Cumberland Presbyterian church. His family is one of the most prominent here and until recent financial reverses was one of the wealthiest in this part of the State.

Mr. Porter and his attorney deny the sensational charges and say he can prove his innocence. The lawyers do not care to expose their hand in this early stage of the game. It is known the bank refused to accept Mr. Porter's resignation and that although it is alleged his shortage has been known since July he has continued to be behind the counter of the bank and has the keys and combination of the concern.

RAG BABY JOKE.

Nothing in The Report Sent Out To The Papers.

Mr. Sterling, Ky. Jan. 17.—A report sent out from the local authorities, that a rag baby, a child, was found in the city, was a joke. The child was a girl, a few days old, and was found in a basket near Plum Lick, Bourbon county, on Christmas morning.

Additional interest was lent the story by the report that a sack containing $10.00 was pinned to the baby's clothing. It is a pity to spoil this pretty little romance, but Mr. Tipton, a most estimable gentleman by the way, was here yesterday and gave your correspondent the facts. Mr. and Mrs. Tipton have never been blessed with children. On Christmas night one of their younger neighbors and friends, in a spirit of fun, rigged up a doll, tucked it nicely away in a basket or bundle, pinned some stage money on it and deposited the same on the Tipton doorstep. From this innocent diversion, which caused many a hearty laugh, originated the highly colored "baby story."

The Saturday Evening Post is the oldest journal in America, having appeared regularly every week for the past 175 years. Except for the short period when Philadelphia was in the hands of the British Army, the magazine was founded in 1758 and was edited and published by Benjamin Franklin, in whose day it was known as The Pennsylvania Gazette. In 1765 the publication passed into other hands, but its name continued until 1821 when it was changed to The Saturday Evening Post. The magazine was purchased in 1897 by The Curtis Publishing Company. It now has a paid circulation of more than 100,000 copies weekly.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Beware of cheap imitations.

Arrangements are made for the accommodation of 6,000 animals in the live stock department of the Pan-American Exposition.

Putting food into a diseased stomach is like putting money into a pocket with holes. When the stomach is diseased with the allied organs of digestion and nutrition, the food which is put into it is largely lost. The nutriment is not extracted from it. The body is weak and the blood is impoverished.

The pocket can be mended. The stomach can be cured. The nutriment can be extracted from the food. The body can be strengthened. The blood can be purified. This is a positive fact. It is a fact that almost all diseases of the stomach and bowels, and all diseases of the heart, liver and other organs, that are not cured in a week or two, are the result of a diseased condition of the stomach.

REPORT

Of State Prison Commissioners for Last Year.

A Total of 1,705 Prisoners Confined in the Two Penitentiaries.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 16.—The third annual report of the State Prison Commission for the year ended November 30, 1900, was completed today and presented to the Governor, to whom, by direction of the statutes, it is made. The report embraces reports of the officials of the main penitentiary here and the branch institution at Edwille, and goes into detail covering the management of both prisons. It shows that the branch prison was operated at a less expense to the State than ever before in its history, and demonstrates that this would have been true of both institutions but for the three disastrous conflagrations which occurred within the walls of the Frankfort prison here.

The reports of the wardens of the two prisons show that 1,705 prisoners were confined in the two institutions November 30 last. Of these 1,550 are employed regularly under contract in the shops of the institutions. There were confined in the main prison here on December 1, 1899, 1,199 men. During the year 534 were received and 540 were stricken from the rolls by death and release. Of the 534 received the State of Kentucky contributed 431, the State of Tennessee 21, Ohio 12, and twenty-six other States of the Union had representatives. Twenty-one prisoners died during the year, one at the hand of a fellow prisoner, while another committed suicide. The others died from natural causes.

At the Edwille prison there were confined on December 1, 1899, just 486 convicts. During the year 279 new ones were received from the counties of Western Kentucky, and 253 were stricken from the rolls by death and discharge. Eleven died during the year.

A CHICAGO LAWYER'S BRIDE.

Miss Alta Rockefeller Married to E. Parmelee Prentice.

New York, Jan. 17.—Miss Alta Rockefeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, was married this afternoon at the residence of her parents in this city to E. Parmelee Prentice, a young lawyer of Chicago. The wedding was very quietly celebrated.

The bride wore a handsome gown of heavy ivory white satin. It was made simple and trimmed with point lace at the corsage and on the front of the skirt. Her veil was of rare point lace, held at the hair by a jeweled pin, the gift of the groom.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of white chiffon over pink tulle, with bodices of Marie Antoinette style.

The bride and groom will spend a portion of their honeymoon at Tartovon, where the country house of Mr. Rockefeller has been placed at their disposal. They may go to Cleveland later, but in about two weeks they will sail for Europe.

LAW CANNOT BE ALTERED

Wilhelmina's Fiancee Trusts Her to His Nationality in Order to Become a Netherlander.

Amsterdam, Jan. 17.—The Amsterdam Gazette publishes today the measures contained in Queen Wilhelmina's marriage bill. The first gives the approval of the States General and the Dutch people to the marriage; the second provides $12,500 a year for Duke Henry in case of his becoming a widower.

A third measure concerns the nationality of the Duke. Here is a difficulty, for the Duke wishes to become a Netherlander, but at the same time to retain his own nationality. This is contrary to Dutch law, and should the Duke persist, all arrangements for the marriage may fall through. The Duke is bound to conform to the law, which cannot be altered. In the event of his refusal, serious difficulties will ensue which will, at least postpone the marriage indefinitely.

"A SOFT SNAP."

Not Usually the Best for a Boy or Young Man.

Did you ever know a great man or a successful man who did not work? Very clever people are sometimes indolent, but they never do great deeds or identify themselves with the great things of life.

The boy who starts out in his career in pursuit of a "soft snap" in the way of a situation never gets very far up the ladder of life. He may have had a good deal of natural ability to begin with, but of what avail is natural ability to the boy who won't work?

"I once knew of a boy who went away from home to fill a situation in a store, secured him by a relative.

At the end of a couple of weeks the boy wrote home to a schoolmate: "I tell you, Will, I've got a soft snap here, and do pretty much as I please. I don't get downtown until after the other clerks, and the boss don't say beans about it. I set back on my dignity a good deal, and let the other fellows do most of the work, and they are chumps enough to do it. It takes me to pull the wool over their eyes."

There was a good deal more of the letter in the same vein, but it was the last one the accomplished boy wrote from that store, for he came home a day or two later, informing his friends that the place "didn't suit him."

The fact was that he had been positively and tersely informed that his services were no longer needed.

I don't know anything about his career after that, but I think I can easily forecast his future and the future of all boys who have this abominable "soft snap" idea too greatly developed.

There are no "soft snaps" in the real successes of life, and when you hear of a successful man you can set it down that he has been a worker—Golden Days.

PINS.

Queen Catharine obtained pins from France; and, in 1543, an act was passed: "That no person shall put to sale any pinnes but only such as shall be double headed and have the heads soldered fast to the shank of the pinnes, well smoothed, the shank well shapen, the points well foundled, cauted and sharpened."

At this time most pins were made of brass, but many were also made of iron with brass surface. France sent a large number of pins to England until about the year 1626.

In this year, says Good Words, one John Tilsby started pinmaking in Gloucestershire. So successful was his venture that he soon had 1,500 persons working. These pins made at Stroud were held in high repute.

In 1636 pinmakers combined and founded a corporation. The industry was carried on at Bristol and Birmingham, the latter becoming the chief center. In 1775 prizes were offered for the first native-made pins and needles in Carolina; and during the war in 1812 pins fetched enormous prices.

Pins vary from 34 inches in length to the small gilt entomologists' pin, 4,500 weighing about an ounce.

Air of a Closed Mine.

The Institution of Mining Engineers of Great Britain at its recent meeting listened to a report on the opening of a mine which had been tightly closed for 15 months. The first rush of air was analyzed and found to contain 84 per cent. of nitrogen, 12 per cent. of fire damp and 4 per cent. of carbon dioxide. The condition of the mine was practically unchanged and no damage had been done by the gases. Bread was dried as hard as biscuit, cooked bacon was quite fresh and water for horses had not evaporated.

Gold Mines in Spain.

There was a time in the fourteenth century when gold mines in Spain were worked at a profit. It is now rumored that several fresh discoveries of gold have been made. Some of the sands of the river Manayanares are said to contain enough gold to repay the cost of washing, and a well-known miner has just asked for the concession of claims close to Madrid, which, like Potosi, is said to be founded on a gold bed.

The only true and firm friendship is that between man and woman, because it is exempt from actual or positive rivalry.

Reconsidered.
A Topsis most lost a small seal set out of his ring and went to the jeweler to have it replaced. Returning home he found the lost seal and, putting it in his mouth for safe keeping, hurried back to the jeweler's to have that set used instead of the new seal. Rushing into the store he said: "Say, I've found the old seal, so don't use that new one." He attempted to remove the stone from his mouth, gave a gulp, looked sheepish, and said: "I guess you'll have to use the new stone."

That man needed a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Sold by C. K. Wyly.

DOCKERY IN CONGRESS.

Although No Longer a Member of the House He Again Presents Himself in the Old Way.

Ex-Congressman Dockery has been elected governor of Missouri, says the Chicago Record, but like the rest of mankind, he is a creature of habit, and comes striding into Washington this year at the opening of congress, as he has done for the last 20 years.

Dockery is absentminded again, and forgot that he was no longer a member of the house of representatives. On the first day of the session he entered the hall, hung his coat and sat on the old peg in the cloak-room.

He was sitting there when a gentleman, who was walking on his hind legs, it is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all.

ALEXANDER M. DOCKERY.
(For Many Years a Congressman from the Governor of Missouri.)

He was sitting there when a gentleman, who was walking on his hind legs, it is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all.

Dockery turned red in the face, left the seat, grabbed his overcoat and hat and rushed over to the room of the committee on appropriations, where he held his head upon the breast of Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, and wept bitterly. From that time on he has not entered the house of representatives, and in so doing he can get a railroad pass he is going home.

Mr. Dockery was one of the few who have retired from congress voluntarily. He was a useful and influential member, but, like Alexander the Great, he resigned for other worlds to conquer. Although the governing ship of Missouri, he at high a honor, and worthy of the most ambitious of men, nevertheless Dockery's habits, formed early in life, of objecting to republican schemes of legislation are difficult to overcome.

"A SOFT SNAP."

Not Usually the Best for a Boy or Young Man.
Did you ever know a great man or a successful man who did not work? Very clever people are sometimes indolent, but they never do great deeds or identify themselves with the great things of life.

The boy who starts out in his career in pursuit of a "soft snap" in the way of a situation never gets very far up the ladder of life. He may have had a good deal of natural ability to begin with, but of what avail is natural ability to the boy who won't work? I once knew of a boy who went away from home to fill a situation in a store, secured him by a relative.

At the end of a couple of weeks the boy wrote home to a schoolmate: "I tell you, Will, I've got a soft snap here, and do pretty much as I please. I don't get down town until after the other clerks, and the boss don't say a word about it. I set back on my dignity a good deal, and let the other fellows do most of the work, and they are chumps enough to do it. It takes me to pull the wool over their eyes."

There was a good deal more of the letter in the same vein, but it was the last one the accomplished boy wrote from that store, for he came home a day or two later, informing his friends that the place "didn't suit him."

The fact was that he had been positively but tersely informed that his services were no longer needed. I don't know anything about his career after that, but I think I can easily forecast his future and the future of all boys who have this abominable "soft snap" idea too greatly developed.

There are no "soft snaps" in the real successes of life, and when you hear of a successful man you can set it down that he has been a worker—Golden Days.

PINS.

Were First Made in France of Brass and Iron.

Queen Catherine obtained pins from France; and, in 1543, an act was passed: "That no person shall put to sale any pinnes but only such as shall be double headed and have the heads soldered fast to the shank of the pinnes, well smoothed, the shank well shapen, the points well rounded, cauted and sharpened."

At this time most pins were made of brass, but many were also made of iron with brass surface. France sent a large number of pins to England until about the year 1636.

In this year, says Good Words, one John Tilsly started pinmaking in Gloucestershire. So successful was his venture that he soon had 1,500 persons working. These pins made at Stroud were held in high repute.

In 1636 pinmakers combined and founded a corporation. The industry was carried on at Bristol and Birmingham, the latter becoming the chief center. In 1776 prizes were offered for the first native-made pins and needles in Carolina; and during the war in 1812 pins fetched enormous prices.

Pins vary from 34 inches in length to the small gilt entomologists' pin, 4,500 weighing about an ounce.

Air of a Closed Mine.

The Institution of Mining Engineers of Great Britain at its recent meeting listened to a report on the opening of a mine which had been tightly closed for 15 months. The first rush of air was analyzed and found to contain 84 per cent. of nitrogen, 12 per cent. of fire damp and 4 per cent. of carbon dioxide. The condition of the mine was practically unchanged and no damage had been done by the gases. Bread was dried as hard as biscuit, cooked bacon was quite fresh and water for horses had not evaporated.

Gold Mines in Spain.

There was a time in the fourteenth century when gold mines in Spain were worked at a profit. It is now rumored that several fresh discoveries of gold have been made. Some of the sands of the river Manzanare are said to contain enough gold to repay the cost of washing, and a well-known miner has discovered the existence of claims close to Madrid, which, like Pretoria, is said to be founded on a gold bed.

Reconsidered.
A Topkapi man lost a small open set out of his ring and went to the jeweler to get used instead of the new opal. Rushing into the store he said: "Say, I've found the old set, so don't use that new one." He attempted to remove the stone from his mouth, gave a gulp, looked sheepish, and said, "I guess you'll have to use the new stone."

That man needed a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Sold by C. K. Wyly.

A fan is indispensable to a woman who can no longer blush.

said good morning to the doorkeeper, got into the barber's chair and had his hair shaved, and then went out and took his former seat about half way down the third aisle on the democratic side. A new member from Virginia noticed a fine specimen of statesmanship occupying the chair and "chatting familiarly" with the neighbors around him, but too much of a gentleman to interrupt the conversation, so he went off and sat down somewhere else. When the house was called to order Dockery nodded assent as he used to do, he arose, and bowed his head reverently during the chaplain's prayer, and then listened attentively to the reading of the journal to see if he could detect anything to criticize or to object to, but it was short and sweet and offered no chance to find fault. When Mr. Ball offered a resolution for the consideration of the army bill Dockery arose to discuss the proposition when suddenly, perceiving his coat and hat, he remembered that ex-members are not permitted to participate in the debate.

Dockery turned red in the face, left the seat, grabbed his overcoat and hat and rushed over to the feet of the committee on appropriations, where he laid his head upon the breast of Hon. Joseph G.
